Our Department

Establishment History

The School of Health was established under İnönü University upon the request of the Ministry of Health and the proposal of the Council of Higher Education, in accordance with the decision of the Supreme Health Council dated May 23, 1995 and numbered 18/1, and the enactment of the Council of Ministers' decision numbered 96/8616 in the Official Gazette dated November 2, 1996 and numbered 22805. Our school began education in the 1997/1998 academic year and was affiliated with the newly established Adıyaman University in accordance with Article 68 (b) of Annex 5467 dated March 1, 2006.

Subsequently, with the Presidential Decree numbered 2222 in the Official Gazette dated March 4, 2020 and numbered 31058, the School of Health was converted into the Faculty of Health Sciences.

Our Faculty of Health Sciences is an institution that trains nurses and midwives. Our Midwifery Department offers a four-year undergraduate education. Our department serves 331 students with 2 Associate Professors, 6 Assistant Professors and 3 Research Assistants.

Mission & Vision

Mission

As the Department of Midwifery at the Faculty of Health Sciences, Adıyaman University, our mission is to educate midwives who are scientifically grounded, committed to ethical values, culturally sensitive, and adopt a woman- and family-centered approach to care; who contribute to the protection and improvement of public health; who are research-oriented, responsive to technological advancements, professionally responsible, and open to lifelong learning.

Vision

As the Department of Midwifery at the Faculty of Health Sciences, Adıyaman University, our vision is to become a nationally and internationally recognized and preferred department that is a leader in education, research, and community service; that embraces evidence-based practices, adds value to the healthcare system through its graduates, and is human-centered, environmentally and socially responsible.

Program Objectives

- To educate qualified midwives who adopt a woman- and family-centered approach and provide care based on evidence-based knowledge and ethical principles.
- To train midwives who can plan and implement preventive, promotive, and rehabilitative midwifery services aimed at improving the health status of the community.
- To educate midwives who are open to scientific research, capable of maintaining their professional development through lifelong learning, and able to integrate technological innovations into care processes.
- To train midwives who are sensitive to cultural differences, compatible with teamwork, and equipped with strong leadership skills.

The Importance of the Midwifery Department

Midwives, who approach people holistically, are important healthcare professionals who enhance the health of mothers, babies, and families. They play a vital role in protecting the health of mothers and newborns, particularly during pregnancy, birth, and the postpartum period, and thus reducing maternal and newborn mortality.

Why Department of Midwifery?

Midwifery graduates are in a more advantageous position compared to other departments in terms of employment opportunities and working conditions in the field they study.

Job Opportunities of Our Graduates

Midwifery graduates work as midwives in hospitals affiliated with the Ministry of Health, university hospitals, private hospitals, state hospitals, family and community health centers, and as academic staff in university midwifery departments.

Our Highest and Lowest Placement Scores by Central Placement

According to the 2024 ÖSYS placement results announced by the Center for Measurement, Selection and Placement, the highest score for students admitted to our department was 337.277, while the lowest was 305.237. All 100 available quotas for earthquake victims, freshmen, and students aged 35 and over have been filled. 366 students are currently enrolled in our department.
