Importance of Finance, Banking and Insurance Department

Depending on economic developments, the market capacities of the finance and insurance sectors are increasing significantly. At the same time, these sectors have a locomotive role in the development and growth of the economy. Within the framework of economic developments, the need for relevant sectors to have knowledge, skills, technical or technological training in order to reflect their roles in the market is increasing. The Finance, Banking and Insurance Department fulfills an important role in the market by training the necessary personnel with both theoretical and practical training.

2006

Why Department of Banking and Insurance?

The ability of the economy to turn depends on ensuring confidence in the market. Finance, Banking or Insurance sectors take important responsibility in ensuring confidence in the market. In the digital age, market conditions are constantly changing and transforming, and the comprehensive and diverse financial or trust requirements of the market are met by professional staff trained in the relevant sectors. This can be cited as a reason why people who want to contribute directly or indirectly to production, employment, welfare or the economy in general prefer the finance, banking and insurance department.
