Mission&Vision

Mission

The main aim of the Archaeology Department is to train individuals who have well-equipped, the ability to use modern technologies in the profession, and who has a mission to produce research, education, and other services in archaeology to provide the benefit of the society in the light of universal values. Another important task is to train competent archaeologists who have the ability to uncover, protect, and exhibit the unique cultural heritage of our country with modern and scientific methods.

Vision

Our vision is to be a department that is proud to be a member of national and international environments and will contribute to our country's rise above the contemporary civilization level with the education it will provide, the knowledge, technology, and art it will produce.

Importance of Archaeology Departments

Archaeology departments try to reveal the cultural development of communities by revealing the material remains they have produced since the period when mankind started making tools. Thus, it is not limited to the recent history of mankind and reveals the stages of the cultural evolution of mankind, who started to produce tools 2.5 million years ago. Our department instills the students with an awareness of history by providing information about these cultural assets unearthed. It cooperates with different disciplines to realize this. Our department instills the students with the culture of working together, which comes from working with different disciplines. In this way, our department trains qualified scientists and personnel who are researching and trying to reach the truth.

Why Archeaology Department?

Our country, in terms of richness of cultural heritage, is located in one of the world's most fortunate geography. Within the borders of our country, the formation and development processes of civilizations can be followed without interruption. It is because of these values and advantages of archaeology in Turkey has acquired a developed and respected worldwide. Our country has been a center of attraction for many researchers since the 1800s. Archaeology is important science. However, it is an intellectual occupation that is curious, interesting, and associated with almost all other branches of science. Archaeology is a science that requires practice as well as theoretical knowledge. Our country is among the lucky countries where these two methods can be performed together.

Our Laboratory

A laboratory with a capacity of 40 people was allocated to the Archaeology Department in 2013 and was properly structured. The archaeology laboratory is equipped with desks for material work, storage cabinets, sinks, and benches for restoration, technical drawing tables, a computer for data entry, a projector for seminars and lectures, and a Nivo machine for measurement.

Archaeology Department Activities

At Adiyaman University, Faculty of Sciences and Literature, Department of Archaeology, it carries out scientific projects, various activities, and studies as well as normal education and training.

Between 2013-2016 and 2020-2021, the "Adıyaman Province Prehistoric and Protohistoric Age Archaeological Surveys Project" was carried out and concluded under the presidency of Dr. Sabahattin EZER, with the permissions provided by the Ministry of Culture and Tourism, General Directorate of Cultural Heritage and Museums.

The execution and scientific consultancy of the "Perre Archaeological Excavation Project" which was started in 2020, is carried out by our faculty member Dr. Kahraman YAĞIZ.

Faculty members of the department took part in Archaeological Excavations and Researches related to their area of specialty.

An advisor lecturer has been appointed for the activities of the archaeology group.
